2006 CHRISTMAS BIRD COUNT SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30, 2006 by Joan Lentz

Please come help us count the birds during Santa Barbara Audubon Society's annual Christmas Bird Count to be held SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30, 2006! Every year, this wonderful effort on the part of over 180 local and out-of-town birders keeps Santa Barbara in the top five Christmas Counts in the United States in number of species sighted!

On the evening of Count Day, please join us at the compilation dinner at the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History in Fleischmann Auditorium. The potluck dinner begins promptly at 6:00 p.m., and the compilation countdown at 7:00 p.m. Please bring your favorite salad, main dish, or dessert to share. If your group includes out-of-towners, they may contribute drinks, bread, chips, etc. Please bring your own service.

This year's count compiler will be Joan Lentz, assisted by the wonderful CBC committee. Joan Murdoch has graciously agreed to take participants' sign-ups. PLEASE CALL OR E-MAIL JOAN MURDOCH TO SIGN-UP. Joan is at jrmurdoch@cox.net or you can call her at 969-5132.

Note from the President--

I am honored to be re-elected President of the chapter. I am so impressed with all the conservation, science monitoring, and environmental education that the chapter accomplishes. These community benefits are possible because so many of our members are active volunteers in chapter projects. I wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who serves or has served as a Snowy Plover docent, Eyes In The Sky volunteer, restoration volunteer, participated in the Christmas Bird Count, monitored White-Tailed Kites, served on the board or committees, or a myriad of other tasks for the chapter. I'd like to extend appreciation from the Board to our outgoing Hospitality volunteers, Don & Florence Stivers, for many years of gracious service of refreshments at our monthly programs.

In the last year we have established the Endowment Fund for the chapter. Charter contributing members to the Tecolote Circle were guests at Rincon Creek Farm for a bird walk with Joan Lentz and an EITS presentation.

The chapter has recently received funding from the UCSB Shoreline Preservation Fund for habitat restoration at Coal Oil Point Reserve. The Venoco Community Partnership is providing support for the Snowy Plover Docent Coordinator. Audubon California has funded Meet Your Wild Neighbors for 2nd and 3rd grade 5-week series with live birds, lessons and a culminating field trip. Chapter members have contributed matching funds to expand these programs and improve our chances at receiving grant awards.

The MAX Project partnership with the S.B. Museum of Natural History is progressing well. New volunteers are providing Sunday afternoon programs at the Museum. The mews, or facility to house the birds at the Museum, is in the permitting phase. You have probably received our Annual Appeal letter recently--I urge you to help with our capital campaign to fund the MAX Project--for the mews construction and program support.

Max has been recovered! As you may have heard, Max, our Great-horned Owl, was lost. He was startled by a loud noise just as Gabriele was removing his leash to allow him to fly into her house. A pair of Great-horned Owls who have established their territory in the area of Max's home appear to have successfully excluded him for 12 days. Because Max imprinted on humans when an orphaned owlet, he is not safe in the wild and not accustomed to hunting for his food. Thanks to everyone who helped in the recovery effort.

I hope to see many of you at the December 6 program, when we will have a Social "Hour" prior to the program, or at the Christmas Bird Count on Saturday, December 30.

Happy Birdwatching!
Darlene Chirman

Max's Return

Hi Birders and Friends,

Yesterday, on day 10, I had pretty well resigned myself about life's ups and downs, and started getting back to catching up on some of my other responsibilities. I even began to feel a sense of relief at doing something else besides listening for the phone, sleeping outside, and looking/listening for Max.

This morning at 7AM I received a phone call from a neighbor just 2.5 blocks down the street from me. "We think your owl is here." Tiredly I asked what made him think that, to please explain.

"We saw this owl sitting on a chair on our back porch this morning. Then the crows saw him, and he flew into a pine tree nearby. He has some leather things around his legs."

My antennas shot up and I went into adrenaline mode. Arriving about 7 minutes later, I was led to a pine tree in a back yard. About ten feet up on a branch was.....MAX.

As soon as he saw me he began begging like a baby and chattering excitedly. I had barely lifted up my hand to offer him when he flew down, but fell off the glove somewhat weakly. I picked him back up and, for the first time in our eight years, got to hug and kiss him all over without him protesting and clawing me in utter disgust. As a matter of fact he chitter/chattered with pleasure.

The wonderful folks who found him watched with pure delight. Max and I walked to our Honda Element, Max hopped eagerly onto his permanently installed perch, and we drove home.

He is thin and weakened, but overall in one piece, and definitely glad to be home. I'm treating him for dehydration/emaciation, but he already managed to eat a frozen mouse. Mr. Owl Eyes spotted it in a container with food thawing for our other raptors. Geez, he's always one step ahead of me. Hopefully his system will be able to handle it.

MAX IS BACK!

My thanks to all who came out to help look for MAX.

Gabriele

The Other-Worldly Galapagos Islands Roy Poucher Wednesday, January 24, 2007

Giant Tortoises, Flightless Cormorants, Galapagos Penguins, Blue-footed Boobies, Lava Gulls plus many endemic birds, and unusual flora, fauna and landscapes. All these and more comprise Roy Poucher's photographic journey to the enchanting Galapagos Islands. Hike over recent lava flows. View gaudy pink Greater Flamingos foraging in natural pools. Plunge into the ocean with iridescent fish. Stroll uninhabited black sand beaches. Learn about the finches that gave rise to Darwin's theory of evolution. Enjoy the courtship rituals of the Great Frigate birds inflating their bright red pouches, the brilliant Sally Lightfoot crabs dancing among the rocks, and the dinosaur-like iguanas sunning themselves on lava rocks. Come to this fun presentation for the entire family! The Galapagos Islands will amaze you with their bio-diversity

Roy Poucher has been a Sea and Sage Audubon trip leader and field trip assistant in their introductory birding classes for 14 years. He has led repeated multi-day trips to the Eastern Sierra, Santa Barbara, Yosemite,

Arizona and Texas. His birding Big Years (1996 in CA; 1998 in the ABA Area) were major accomplishments (472 and 677 species respectively). In 2003 he designed and led spring warbler trips to the Upper Texas Coast and to the Great Lakes. In 2005 he did the same for shorebird trips to Texas (April) and the East Coast (August). His bird tour company, Bird Odysseys, has recently taken groups to Costa Rica, Ecuador and the Galapagos Islands. Trips to Africa and Costa Rica are in the planning stage.
