PROGRESS ON OUR AUDUBON AVIARY

At the Membership Picnic on July 17, SBAS members enjoyed a stroll from Rocky Nook Park, where the picnic was held, over to the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History to observe progress on our Audubon aviary.

At the groundbreaking on May 22, Darlene Chirman, SBAS President, and Karl Hutterer, Director of the Museum, turned the first spades of soil at the site. Formal construction started June 23 and is expected to last three months. The contractor is Donn Roberts.

After the picnic, we toured the site of the aviary. During the initial grading, a surprise discovery of an old well has delayed construction. By the time you read this, the hole will have been filled with gravel, and construction will have resumed.

As work proceeds towards the exciting day of completion, costs are rising. Donations for completing and furnishing the new aviary are still very welcome. (Mail to Audubon, 5679 Hollister Ave., Suite 5B, Goleta, CA 93117)

Cathy and Jack Sanford recently increased their donation, saying: “We have 17 grandchildren all of whom will no doubt some day visit the raptors in the aviary. We hope they will be thrilled to see that their Grandmother and Grandfather contributed to the construction of the building that houses the birds.”

Names of contributors giving over $250 will be acknowledged on a donor plaque at the site. Questions? Call Dolores Pollock at 681-8661. Donations must be received by August 31.

The Best of Baja California!

Piet & Mary Van de Mark
Baja's Frontier Tours

Wednesday, September 22, 2010

Journey through the remote central Baja California peninsula, experiencing desert delights—boojum forests, immense cardon cacti, and brilliant spring flowers—plus the lovely blue Pacific Coast, alive with whales, marine and bird life, including the enjoyable and photogenic diversity of North American herons. Get close-up and personal with the majestic, and often very friendly, California Gray Whales in their natural mating and calving grounds in the warmth and protection of Scammon's Lagoon. Piet and Mary Van de Mark, owner/operators of Baja's Frontier Tours, will personally share their knowledge and passion for Baja's natural history. Piet's roots in Baja California began on a personal odyssey in the summer of 1962; he's spent his whole life traveling in and sharing his love of the enchanted peninsula with his guests.

Eyes-in-the-Sky (EITS) is Recruiting VOLUNTEERS:

If you love birds, nature and wildlife and want to care for them and to educate people about our relationship with all of them, then this is the opportunity you've been looking for! The aviary at the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History is under construction and, when it is completed by the end of this Summer, EITS' educational birds of prey will move into their new home.

There will need to be volunteers on site every day. Volunteers will be trained in the birds' natural history, handling techniques and maintenance; will help care for, feed, and exercise them; and will have the opportunity to learn how to present the birds and their conservation stories to children and adults. No prior experience is required, but is certainly welcome.

A minimum availability of four hours per week of service is requested, and a six month time commitment is required to receive the full training. Preference will be given to applicants with flexible schedules that have time during weekday work hours.

An informational introductory session is scheduled for Sunday, August 15th, from 2-4 p.m.

For more information or to schedule an interview please call Gabriele Drozdowski at 805-898-0347, or email: eyes-in-the-sky@cox.net.
